First, let's talk about voting...

Who's eligible to vote?

Any United States citizen who is 18 years of age or older (or who will be 18 prior to the next election) and, if a felon, is not confined to jail, prison, or another correctional facility, can register to vote.

How do I register to vote in Santa Fe?

You can register to vote by 1) requesting a registration application be sent to you by the Santa Fe County Bureau of Elections (505-986-6280), 2) registering in person at the County Clerk's Office, the New Mexico MVD, or a public library, or 3) registering online at SantaFe.vote.

Check your registration status at SantaFe.vote.

Do I need to be a registered member of a political party to vote?

To vote in primary elections, held the first Tuesday in June of even-numbered years, you must be a registered member of a major political party. To vote in all other elections, as long as you're registered to vote, you need not to be affiliated with a political party.

What are the major political parties in New Mexico?

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY OF NEW MEXICO

505-830-3650; nmdemocrats.org

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY OF NEW MEXICO

505-298-3662; newmexico.gop

THE LIBERTARIAN PARTY OF NEW MEXICO

888-576-6669; lpm.us

For information about other active political parties, call the Secretary of State's Office at 800-477-3632.

How do I find out how and where to vote?

Find out how and where to vote at SantaFe.vote.

How do I learn about the candidates and their positions?

Before every major election, the League of Women Voters publishes an online Voter Guide at Vote411.org or lwvsfc.org. It includes voting information, descriptions of the races to be included on the ballot, and candidates' answers to questions about important issues. Check it out!

Now let's talk about our elected and appointed officials...

New Mexico State Judiciary

Vacancies for courts in New Mexico are filled through appointment by the Governor from a slate of potential nominees submitted by a judicial nominating committee. The newly appointed judge must then run in a contested, partisan election at the next general election. Thereafter, the judge runs in nonpartisan retention elections for set terms. In a partisan election, the candidate receiving the most votes will be elected. In a retention election, the justice or judge must receive a 57% “yes” vote out of all the votes cast on the question of whether the justice or judge should remain in office. Find more information about the court system, including federal, state, district, magistrate and metropolitan at nmcourts.gov.

State Supreme Court

The highest court in New Mexico consisting of five justices. It is the court of last resort and has supervisory control over all lesser courts and attorneys licensed in the state. Required to hear appeals from the Public Regulation Commission, election challenges and criminal cases when a defendant is sentenced to the death penalty or life imprisonment. Has discretionary authority to review rulings of the Court of Appeals and questions of law certified to it by the Court of Appeals or federal court. Must be 35 years old, have practiced law for ten years, and have resided in New Mexico for the last three years.
